BAR LABOR JURY AT JOBLESS COMMITTEE TRIAL

The 7-Hour Day; Its Role in Overcoming Unemployment in the U. S. S. R.

In the old Russia, the length of the working day was fixed by law at 11 1/2 hours. However, in separate cases a 12-hour day was allowed. But in practice the length of the working day was not decided by this law. A great role was played by the degree of organization and solidarity of the working class. The law did not prevent the introduction of overtime, and in most provincial factories, the working day was in reality considerably more than 12 hours. Only in the biggest industrial centers, the average working day on the eve of the war was kept at the level of 10 hours.

The workers' movement set itself the task of bringing about an 8-hour working day.

Only the setting up of the dictatorship of the proletariat made it possible to grant in full this long repeated demand of the working class. One of the first acts of the Soviet Government was to fix the 8-hour working day as the maximum for all toilers, and a reduction to 6 hours for all workers who were occupied in industries which were harmful to the health or underground, and likewise for workers who had not reached the age of 18 years.

The actual observance of the 8-hour day, the strict limiting of overtime, the introduction of a shortened working day in harmful industries, brought about the result that the actual working day in the industry of the U.S.S.R. (including overtime work) consisted in 1927 of an average of 7 hours 29 minutes.

As is well known, the Soviet Government has not stopped there. Having completed the reconstruction of industry which was destroyed by the war and intervention, and having started on the complete rebuilding of industry and agriculture on socialist lines, the Soviet Government, in accordance with the program of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union, commenced a further shortening of the working day. Two and a half years ago, a 7-hour working day was decreed in order to mark the tenth anniversary of the October Revolution. The 7-hour day was to be introduced gradually. At the present time it will be interesting to examine how far the working class of the U. S. S. R. has actually solved this important problem, which is of tremendous social and cultural importance.

The textile industry was the first to pass on to the 7-hour working day. In 1927-28, 24 textile factories with 104,000 workers began to work the 7-hour day. After the textile workers, other branches of industry began to introduce the shortened working day. In 1928-29, 301 factories with 287,000 workers were transferred to the 7-hour day, reaching 437,000 in 1929 factories and works, including 174 factories. On October 1, 1929, the total number of workers on the 7-hour day had in heavy industry. By January 1st this year, the number of workers who have passed on to the 7-hour day had grown to 650,000, according to incomplete data.

At the end of the current financial year (October 1st) the number of workers in Soviet industry and transport who will be working the 7-hour day will be over 1,100,000, not including the office workers of these factories, who will have their working day shortened at the same time as the workers. This number also does not include the workers in the large number of new works and factories which are being built, and in which according to Soviet law, the 7-hour working day must be introduced from the very commencement. Thus at the end of the year, the number of workers on the 7-hour day will in reality be nearly 1,500,000.

The partial introduction of the 7-hour day has already, in the first months of 1929, reduced the average working day in all Soviet industry to 7 hours 23 minutes. When the 7-hour day is fully in operation, the average working day, if we take into consideration the reduced working day (less than 7 hours), in harmful industries, will be not more than 6 hours 45 minutes.

The introduction of the shortened working day in the U. S. S. R. has not only not caused a reduction of wages, but on the contrary, has been accompanied by a continuous growth of wages. Thus, for instance, the wages of the workers in textile factories, which have been working a 7-hour day since 1928, has increased by 14 to 15 per cent. In a number of factories in the metallurgical, mining and chemical industries, wages increased by 4 to 9 per cent after the introduction of the 7-hour day.

The introduction of the 7-hour day in Soviet industry is usually accompanied by an improvement in the organization of labor at the factory, an increase in the number of shifts, and a tremendous increase in production. This in turn causes a considerable growth in the number of workers in the 7-hour factories, and consequently the reduction, and partial or complete liquidation of unemployment. Thus, for instance when the 7-hour day was introduced in the first 24 textile factories in 1927-28, the increased demand for workers absorbed almost all the unemployed textile workers who were registered at that time in the local labor exchanges. And in some districts, the labor exchanges, having sent the whole of their reserves to the factories, were compelled, so as to satisfy the ever-growing demand of the factories, to commence the rapid preparation of worker cadres from amongst the members of the families of the workers and from the peasants of surrounding villages, who had never before worked for wages.

The following figures give a vivid picture of the role of the 7-hour day in the struggle against unemployment. In 171 factories out of the total of 329 which had passed on the shortened working day before October, 1929, the number of workers increased by 13.9 per cent after the introduction of the 7-hour day (chiefly in heavy industry); in 48 textile factories, the number of workers increased by 10.9 per cent after the introduction of the 7-hour day; in another 72 factories, the increase was 4.5 per cent, and only in 38 factories (out of 329), mostly small factories, the number of workers remained unchanged after the introduction of the shortened working day. In some branches of industry, the increase in the number of workers after the introduction of the 7-hour day even increased by 27 per cent compared with the number who were working before the working hours were shortened (e. g. the leather industry).

While in all capitalist countries there is going on an actual lengthening of the working day, the working class of the U. S. S. R. is inflexibly carrying out the shortening of the working day.

The complete introduction of the 7-hour working day in all factories without exception in the U. S. S. R. must be finished by October 1, 1930, i. e., by the end of the Five Year program. However, we may confidently say that the ever-growing tempo with which the Five Year Plan is being carried out, will make it possible to speed up the complete introduction of the 7-hour working day. And besides this, the successful carrying out of the Five Year Plan of socialist construction will make it possible for the working class of the U. S. S. R. to commence in the near future a further shortening of working hours, and the introduction of the 6-hour working day.

Thousands At Inter-Racial Dances

Calling upon all Negro workers organizations to send delegates to organize and fight against "mass unemployment and starvation, against high rents and evictions of jobless workers, and against police brutality, lynching, segregation, peonage, Jim-crowism and other manifestations of white-ruling class terrorism," the American Negro Labor Congress announces its National Convention to be held June 6-7-8 in St. Louis.

"Send delegates from your unions, clubs, lodges, etc.," says the invitation to Negro workers to attend the convention. "Organize committees in every shop, on the job, for the election of delegates to this convention."

Police Beat Jobless; Hobnob With Crooks

Whalen, who was rushed into the job of police commissioner to hide the connection between the Tammany politicians and gangland, revealed in the Rothstein murder case, and who has spent most of his time as chief constable attacking workers organizations and unemployed demonstrations in the interest of the bosses, is again faced with the Rothstein scandal.

Shades of the Rothstein murder, which is interwoven in the Tammany-Walken machine again to plague the chief constable today. The unsolved Frankie Marlow and Hoty Totsy club murders, both of which happened in Grover Whalen's regime as police commissioner, were thrown at the Wasmaker exploiters' head today by former Inspector John D. Coughlin in response to Whalen's charge that he and former Inspector Arthur Carey were responsible for the police monkey-business in connection with the Rothstein murder.

Munzenberg Hits German Boss Government For Visa Refusal to Soviet Delegates

Issue Appeal to Workers of the World for Fight Against Imperialist War Plans

(Wireless By Inprocor) BERLIN, March 24.—The second congress of the Friends of the Soviet Union opened Thursday. In his speech, Willi Munzenberg, international secretary of the Friends of the Soviet Union, condemned among other things, the action of the German government in refusing visas to the delegation to the Congress from the Soviet Union.

The agenda contains the following points: 1. Situation of the Soviet Union and the Five-Year Plan; 2. The war danger; 3. Organizational matters. Bell, delegate from Great Britain, declared at the Sunday session that the present war danger was due first, to the extreme crisis of capitalism; second, to the rising revolutionary wave in the imperialist nations and their colonies; third, because the imperialists fear the rapid

"NO JOBS," ADMIT B'KLYN BOSSES

One Builds 3 Closets For Hoover Plan

Over 50 of the leading bankers and exploiters of the workers of Brooklyn met yesterday at the Chamber of Commerce headquarters, 66 Court Street, under the auspices of the Brooklyn Economic Conference, to discuss unemployment.

All the fat, sleek bourgeois present admitted that unemployment was very severe, but were unanimous that a campaign of optimism should be inaugurated in order to fool the masses.

That Hoover's building program is a complete flop was admitted by Thomas Holden, civic president of the F. W. Dodge Corporation, building construction statisticians. "There have been no results yet from Hoover's business council. Some public construction planned two years ago is not under way yet," he said.

(By Special Wire.) BIRMINGHAM, Ala., March 24.—Two hundred and fifty workers, two-thirds of them Negroes, attended an enthusiastic mass meeting of the Trade Union Unity League here this afternoon. After listening to W. W. Lewis, Negro organizer of the Metal Workers' Industrial League, J. J. Gliglio, secretary of the Birmingham T. U. U. L., and Tom Johnson, representative of the Metal Workers' Industrial League, a resolution was passed unanimously denouncing the brutal police attacks upon the unemployed demonstrations of March 6, and demanding the immediate release of the delegation representing 100,000 New York workers.

Thirty workers, mostly Negroes, joined the Metal Workers' Industrial League and T. U. U. L. The T. U. U. L. and its program were welcomed with tremendous enthusiasm.

1,500 Meet in Rochester. ROCHESTER, N. Y., March 24.—At a meeting called by the local council of the unemployed, 1,500 workers gathered yesterday at Convention Hall to protest the railroadings to prison of the delegates of the unemployed in New York.

William Z. Foster, one of the committee, had been scheduled to speak at this meeting, but was prevented by the arrest, and the principal speaker was J. W. Ford. Ford told the workers the meaning and reasons of unemployment.

The meeting adopted a resolution to push the organization work among jobless and employed workers, and for the immediate release of the representatives of the unemployed.

Ready to Start for Jobless' Conferences

While the unemployed councils and local unions in New York push the elections for delegates to the city conference on unemployment, to be held here March 27 in Manhattan Lyceum, the national office of the Trade Union Unity League reports new groups of delegates elected to the national conference, which will meet in the same hall March 29.

It was reported today that a delegation of 7 Negro and white workers was ready to leave Winston-Salem, N. C., and Chattanooga, Tenn.

In Washington, D. C. yesterday, the unemployed council elected a delegation to the conference.

The Boston delegation of 20 shoe, marine and needle trades workers especially, is being chosen. Philadelphia has 20, and definite word on their election is expected momentarily. From New Bedford and Fall River a strong delegation of textile workers and others is expected. Unemployment is particularly bad in the textile mills.

Word from Chicago is that the delegation, at first supposed to be 10, will be increased, and will start soon. Delegations are elected or being elected in Minneapolis, Duluth, Detroit, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Buffalo and many other cities.

The draft program for the unemployment conference is about ready, the national office of the T. U. U. L. states.

It provides plans for the calling of a great national convention in Chicago in May, and for the continued organization of both jobless and employed workers, and their full co-operation for demands of both.

Rush Elections to Jobless' Conference; Bldg. Trades Meet

Secretaries of working-class organizations are urged by the Trade Union Unity League to push on the order of business of their meetings the election of delegates to the city conference on unemployment, to be held in Manhattan Lyceum, March 27.

"It is your duty," says the Trade Union Unity League to the secretaries, "to represent your organization yourself at this conference if you cannot have a meeting before the 27th."

There will be meetings of all unemployed councils today.

A meeting of all executive committees elected by the councils will be held at headquarters of the unemployed movement, and of the Trade Union Unity League, at 13 West 17th St., today.

A meeting of all employed and unemployed building trades workers is scheduled for tonight at 8 p. m. sharp, at 13 West 17th St. (Continued on Page Three)

JUDGES THREATEN BAN WITNESSES

Defense Demand Right to Show Movies

Three New York judges in special session court, Part 6, yesterday, grudgingly granted Foster, Minor, Anter, Raymond and Lesten, members of the committee elected by the unemployed workers of New York, a postponement until April 11, to prepare their defense in the prosecution for voicing the demands of the workers for unemployment insurance. Meanwhile the Labor Jury, elected by the Trade Union Unity League, was barred from the courtroom by police. Great numbers of workers tried unsuccessfully to enter the courtroom in the New York Criminal Courts Building.

A mass-protest movement of tens of thousands in many cities against the hundreds of arrests of workers for participating in unemployment demonstrations in many cities on and before March 6, is developing.

The judges in the New York case made the time as short as it was humanly possible, and still give some color to the fiction of a "fair trial" in the capitalist court.

In the brief session held yesterday the actions of the police in excluding the labor jury and other workers from the courtroom revealed that it is the intention to try these delegates elected by the 110,000 who demonstrated in Union Square March 6, in a high-handed manner, with the public barred. A jury trial has already been denied. A strong guard of police reinforced the regular court attendants at the doors of the courtroom, in the basement of the old criminal court building next door to the Tombs prison, and barred not only the labor jury, but all others. Only prosecutors, defendants, lawyers, reporters and those subpoenaed as witnesses were admitted. The ruling class wants no publicity on this railroadings, except what comes distorted through the bosses' newspapers.

Demand Entrance. Charles Hope, a Negro laundry worker and foreman of the Labor Jury nominated by unions and unemployed councils, elected by 110,000 workers at the mass-protest meeting Wednesday, appeared at the head of the labor jury and demanded entrance.

"We were elected to sit in court and watch this case," he said to the police lieutenant, "and we intend making a report to the thousands of workers and unemployed who are demanding the immediate release of their delegation."

The police not only barred them from the courtroom, but ordered them to leave the building. They insisted on their right to be present at the trial, and finally were allowed to stay in the hallway, but not to come into the courtroom or listen to the case.

Yesterday the jury issued a statement, protesting vigorously against the trial in secret, announcing that they would continue their struggle to be present in the courtroom.

Get No Public Trial. At 9:50, before the judges appeared, an attendant pounced on the spectators who had filtered through, and chased them from the court room.

"Go on," they said. "Isn't this the case of Foster, Minor, Anter, Raymond and Lesten?" said a worker.

"Yes, that's why you can't stay." "Don't these men get a public trial?"

"No!" "Zealous police, determined to preserve the secrets of Tammany 'justice' even tried for a time to bar Robert Minor, one of the defendants. Eleven Times in Court. Joseph Brodsky, attorney for the (Continued on Page Three)

YOUNG CHILDREN TOIL LONG HOURS IN BEET FIELD HELL OF COLO.

Average Age of Child Workers Is 12 Years;
Little Tots of 6 Are Also Exploited

DENVER, Col. (By Mail).—Tolling at back-breaking labor, in forced and unnatural postures and under the worst forms of exploitation, child workers, on the average twelve years of age, but in some cases even as young as six years, cultivate the beet fields of Colorado and produce the blood soaked profits of their exploiters.

The facts are revealed in an extensive survey sponsored by the National Child Labor Committee and published as "Child Labor in Agriculture and Farm Life in the Arkansas Valley of Colorado." The survey supplies a most gruesome picture of the exploitation of child labor in this state.

"In bunching and thinning and pulling and topping," the survey states, "the children are required to spend their time going through the same motions for hour after hour and day after day."

The state law placing the age of child workers in certain occupations at 14 is purely a paper law and a farce.

Milwaukee Raid Hinders Woll $1,250,000 Lie

MILWAUKEE, Wis., March 24.—The hand of the Communist International reaches all the way from Moscow to West Division St. High School, to the shops of Allis Chalmers, A. O. Smith, Pawling & Harshbarger, International Harvester Co., etc., says the "socialist" city government here in accents of horror, after a perusal of the filing cases looted from the offices of the Communist Party here.

But, regrettably, the raiders are forced to admit "there is no evidence of any financial support whatever from Moscow, and the comrades have had to ride the rods to conventions."

French Imperialists Admit Crisis

A dispatch from Paris to the New York Times (March 24, 1930), giving the views of the French imperialists on the present crisis in the United States, says:

"Financial circles in Paris think that recovery in American business activity will possibly be not as rapid as Wall Street has seemed to expect and that the effects of the autumn crisis will be felt for some time to come. The same opinion is held concerning French trade."

Toronto Police Savage to Leaders of Jobless

TORONTO, Canada, Mar. 24.—Police are seeking to smash unemployed organizations by savage treatment of leaders. Chas. Sims, district organizer of the Communist Party for South and West Ontario, has been singled out. On March 5, at a mass meeting outside of Painters Hall, from which the police had locked them out, Sims was arrested.

The police are working up a case against him which they can try before a packed jury and send him to jail for "obstructing the police."

Harvey Jackson, a leading unemployed movement worker, has been sentenced to 60 days.

Use Planes to Avoid Nicaraguan Wrath

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, March 24.—So good an account of themselves did the workers and peasants of Northern Nicaragua give while battling marines, and so uncertain are the gunmen of Uncle Sam of the attitude of the peasant villages, that when 600 marines stationed in the North were recently ordered to Managua, they were transported by airplane.

There are about 2,500 marines here as an army of occupation, according to U. S. army statements. There are actually more, besides a force of mercenary constabulary, officered by marines. The army authorities say they are withdrawing 600 marines, but they have a fashion of withdrawing one man, and sending two more.

Sharpening Class Struggles in Germany

BERLIN, March 24.—The economic crisis in Germany is rapidly sharpening. Unemployment, which several months ago reached the figure of more than 3,500,000 is growing by leaps and bounds. Bankruptcies increased 20 per cent in February. Car loadings on the German state railway company's lines dropped sharply. January steel production was 1,275,000 tons against 1,470,000 in January, 1929, and the coal output for February was 390,000, as against an average of 450,000.

Jobless Army Increased Under MacDonald

LONDON, March 24.—Unemployment again jumped up in February, according to government reports recently issued. Out of 12,100,000 workers 13.1 per cent were jobless on February 14, as compared with 12.6 per cent a month ago.

The present ratio of unemployment is the highest of any month since 1926, the year of the general strike, and is higher than in 1922.

Unemployment increased principally in the textile, engineering, shipbuilding, auto and metal industries.

Workers Battle Fascists Throughout Germany

BERLIN, Germany, March 24.—Hot street battles between demonstrating workers, led by the Communists, and fascist organizations have taken place throughout Germany today. The fascists were assisted by the police.

At Kiel, four police and about 20 of the workers were injured, and 25 workers arrested. The police were armed, the workers unarmed.

At Duisburg, workers with stones beat back the police from a demonstration. Reinforcements arrested 32 men and women.

At Essen a three-cornered fight between workers, the socialist "Reichsbanner" and fascists resulted in several arrests.

A fascist meeting in Remscheid was broken up by workers, after which a street battle was fought. There were 22 injured.

Rubio Invites Bankers to Plunder Mexico

MEXICO CITY, March 24.—Following his instructions, received while in Wall Street and Washington, fascist president Ortiz Rubio has sent an invitation to the International Committee of Bankers on Mexico that the Mexican bankers are ready to do their bidding on debt settlements.

The Bankers Committee is headed by Wall Street imperialists who have a lot of fake debt claims against the Mexican government. Ortiz Rubio has indicated he will make any settlement the bankers ask of him. That is in line with his action of jailing revolutionary trade union leaders and members of the Mexican Communist Party.

Pickets Arrested at Donkner's Shop, Toronto

LIBERTY MILL STRIKE IS WON

PATTERSON, N. J., March 24.—The National Textile Workers' Union has won another strike. The workers of the Liberty Silk Mill, who struck under N. T. W. leadership here March 14, against the longer work day and for an increase in wages, went back to work today with a shorter work day and one cent a yard increase in pay.

Mobilizing For May 1 at Conference April 4

Reds properly." Permission to use Union Square has already been granted to a number of fascist organizations.

The police department and Tammany administration are planning to mobilize every anti-working class element.

The conference on April 4 will be the rallying point for the entire New York working class to carefully outline its plans and to mobilize all workers for participation in the demonstration on May Day.

The socialist party makes a gesture on unemployment on May 1, with the idea of possibly winning some of the workers who demonstrated so militantly on March 6 and thus quiet the storm of anger the workers and jobless feel for their capitalist tormentors.

One of Whalen's Cops Gives Machine Gun to Gangster For Murder

A New York policeman, by the name of Patrolman Edward Behan, recently of the E. 51st St. station, bought the machine gun that was used in the murder of Frankie Dunn, a beer-runner. Behan, who is of the same stripe of the official gunmen who beat unemployed workers and strikers, admitted that he bought the machine gun and turned it over to a man named Coleman.

Pathe Co. Murders 11 Workers, No Charge; Jobless Leaders Jailed

The special grand jury investigating the case of the Pathe film company, in whose studio complete lack of fire precautions, absence of every safeguard, and establishment of a veritable death trap caused a fire that killed eleven persons last December, finds yesterday that "no indictment shall issue against the officials of the Pathe Co."

BOSTON STRIKERS HIT I.L.G.W. FAKE COMPANY 'STRIKE'

Picket Vigorously and Win New Victory

BOSTON, Mass., March 24.—A mass picket line this morning before the struck dress and cloak shops gave evidence of the vigor of the strike, led here by the Needle Trades Workers' Industrial Union, and the disgust of all the workers with the sell-out of the company union, the International Ladies Garment Workers.

Another dress shop was won by the industrial union Saturday.

big manufacturing plant in Brooklyn, which "usually" employs thousands of workers, said, "There has been no work here for some time in our plant."

Dr. Hamkinson, president of the leading charity organization in Brooklyn, said that unemployment has been growing very rapidly. "But we always have that situation," he said with a broad grin on his face.

"However, we should not spread the information about unemployment too much. There has been too much said about it." All the speakers present favored the Hoover program of lies in order to cover up the rapidly growing unemployment situation.

"We have been talking too much about depression," said James Guernan of the State Department of Labor. "Of course, there is a great deal of depression, but we should not talk about it."

Then a hanker, William Irish, spoke. "Why," he said, "I have helped to solve the unemployment situation. I have followed Hoover's advice on building programs. I spent $52.00 building three closets in my home."

The general postmaster of Brooklyn, Mr. Fernan, spoke along the same line.

All of these gentlemen expressed fear of the growing militancy of the unemployed movement, and joined with the A. F. of L. in opposing any form of unemployment insurance.

"The Matriarch" Opens at the Longacre Theatre

AT BRIGHTON PLAYHOUSE

"The Matriarch," by G. B. Stern and Frank Vernon, based upon Miss Stern's novel of the same name, is now at the Longacre Theatre. Like most dramatizations of popular books, it is rather dry and lacking in action, and should be considered more as a character and type study than a play. "The Matriarch" is devoted to telling the family history of the Rakonitzs.

Nothing but family loyalty matters. For many generations, according to the play, the Rakonitzs have traded in precious stones throughout all Europe. The Matriarch, Anastasia, who heads the family rules with an iron hand, deciding all financial questions for the rest of the tribe.

In the prologue we discover that Danny Maitland, then a baby, is not a genuine Rakonitz, but a substitute child. In the first act, 19 years later, we find Danny in love with Toni, who is scheduled to succeed Anastasia as the head of the family council.

Constance Collier, in the title role gives a rather credible performance in a very difficult part. Although not a Jew, he is able to portray the money-mad bourgeois that the part calls for, in a manner that deserves praise.

Derrick De Marney, as Danny, is well fitted for his role; the same can be said for Jessica Tandy as Toni. Others in the large cast include Earle Grey, Abraham Sofaer, Dorothy Dandies and Alan Keith. Most of the present cast appeared in the play when it was produced in London, where Mrs. Patrick Campbell was the Matriarch.

TWO SOVIET FILMS OF SOVKINO, SUNDAY, MARCH 30
Two Soviet films of the Sovkino of Moscow will be presented this Sunday, March 30, at the Star Casino, 107th Street and Park Avenue, for the benefit of the W. L. R. Children's Camp. The films will be shown between 2 P. M. and midnight.

One film has never been shown in this country. It is a film on the Five Year Plan of construction in the Soviet Union. This film takes us to the villages and cities, factories, homes and schools of the Russian workers and shows us the great changes that are taking place in Russia now.

Tickets for these films, 50 cents in advance and 65 cents at the door.

WHOLESALE ARRESTS OF CAL. UNEMPLOYED; LUMBER MILLS DOWN

Shingle Mills of Grays Harbor, Washington, Are Either Closed or Down to Third Capacity

Sacramento and San Francisco Police Arrest Nearly 1000 Unemployed; Force Many to Leave

(By a Worker Correspondent.)
ABERDEEN, Wash.—The shingle mills on Grays Harbor, which operated at full capacity till recently, are now shut down to about a third capacity. At the same time the shingle weavers are expecting the bosses to try to slash wages by at least a third.

They are receiving an average of $7.00 for the sawyers and $6.00 for packers. I am satisfied that the shingle weavers will resist the forthcoming wage cuts, as it is characteristic of us to fight. The shingle weaver is the most speeded up worker in the lumber industry. At least half the shingle weavers have had hands or fingers amputated by the saws. All shingle weavers are subject to shingle weavers' asthma, owing to inhaling cedar dust, which contains oil of cedar, a deadly poison. They will fight under the leadership of the National Lumber Workers' Union.

Workers, Don't Fall for This Fast One

(By a Worker Correspondent.)
SAN PEDRO, Cal.—Fellow workers, Southern California justice says it is unlawful for a Filipino to marry a white. On the other hand, Southern California justice hires mostly Filipino workers.

To see how the bosses are putting fast ones over, by his little scheme, discrimination of races and nationalities, they are keeping the workers apart from organizing together. As workers we must stick together; we are slaves whether we are white, black or yellow.

(By a Worker Correspondent.)
TAYLORVILLE, Ill.—Local No. 817, U. M. W. A. has refused to pay dues to Lewis, and also is going to stop paying to Fishwick. Many locals in Illinois are doing this. There are thousands of miners that are coming into the rank and file N. M. U., and many miners are joining the N. M. U., which is the only union for the miners and all the workers, who must stick together and overthrow the rotten capitalist system.

Starvation Is Lot of Field Workers of Calif.

COLTON, Calif.—We had a strike here of the melon workers of Imperial Valley for several months, under the direction of the T.U.U.L. The workers of this region work for the miserable wage of 33 cents per hour, for 8 hours daily during three days per week, for which it is impossible to earn more than 25 weekly.

go to a "charity" institution to get clothing in order to be able to go to school. This is only an example of the life the workers who work on the Pacific Fruit Express Co. have to endure. I will write another letter about the conditions existing among these workers. We are the workers who produce all the good things of life, but the capitalists enjoy it and prevent us from having what we need. Proletarians of all countries unite!

Capitalist Greed Maims Cuba

(By a Worker Correspondent.)
DETROIT, Mich.—After being injured at Fisher Body Co. I was confined to the hospital and saw many workers, who were crippled for life, thru faulty adjustment and failure of the bosses to provide proper safeguards on dangerous machinery.

One case was of especial interest. It was a workman employed by the Briggs Body Co. who lost both hands from the failure of the bosses to provide safeguards on a punch press. I have never seen a single punch press that had any sort of safeguard device. It would be an easy matter to have never seen a single punch press prevent workmen losing their arms and hands as this man did.

The capitalist system of greed will never care about our safety. We are the workers who provide protection as well as decent wages and hours and against lay-offs. Let's hear from other workers who have been maimed by capitalism. Forward T.U.U.L.

Young Illinois Miners Fighting Lewis, Fishwick

(By a Worker Correspondent.)
TAYLORVILLE, Ill.—The night shift men in Peabody Mine 58 work under very bad conditions and they are forced to wear gas masks to be able to put in their shift.

The men at local 2513 elected a pit committee. Supt. Bill Hardy refused to recognize its representative because the man was a N.M.U. sympathizer.

The subcommittee board member Haywood (UMWA) and President Glasgow were carrying guns and were deputized during our strike. That is a sample of what the once powerful UMWA has sunk to led by those labor fakers Lewis, Fishwick and Farrington. You can expect only treachery from such men.

The young miners like myself are fighting against these rotten conditions and these labor fakers who help the bosses in their dirty work against the miners.

They are looking towards the N. M. U. to lead them.

of the overthrown imperialist state is held in order by force while the workers state grows . . . there is no such conflict in the workers state as to make unemployment essential to the system.

"The Crisis Is Solved." The Daily Worker received the following letter addressed to the Secretary of Labor:

"Attention Secretary of Labor Davis:

"Further evidence of the correctness of Hoover's prognostication—a firm in New York state increased its personnel 100 per cent during the week.

"This firm consisted of one wage worker and this week as a result of receiving an order lost by a rival sweat shop hired an additional worker. Of course the rival firm which lost the job let one of their 35 slaves go, still, even Communists can't dispute the fact that, whereas, employment dropped in the latter case four per cent it increased in the former case 100 per cent in employment.

"Truly yours, Statistician."

Crisis, Unemployment Sharpen in Germany

A demonstration of German workers against capitalism. Recently the revolutionary trade unions in Berlin and other industrial cities won substantial victories in the workers councils over the social democrats.

Fight Discrimination Against Negroes.

CLEVELAND, Ohio.—Because Chapin's Restaurant on Superior Ave. near Third St. discriminates against Negroes a picketing demonstration was held before it on Monday by young workers of the Young Communist League and the American Negro Labor Congress. The picketers were hauled to jail, but later released.

On Tuesday another group of militant young Negro and white workers went into this restaurant to eat, they were attacked by thugs hired by the restaurant owner. When the capitalist police arrived they arrested seven of the young workers, leaving the thugs go free. Later the International Labor Defense secured the release of these workers by putting up $500 for each.

Biggest Inter-Racial Dance.

Over 1,500 Negro and white workers attended the Liberator-Labor Unity dance, held at Rockland Palace, Saturday, it was the most successful inter-racial dance ever held in New York City.

The affair was a splendid expression of racial solidarity. William Z. Foster, general secretary of the Trade Union Unity League, and one of the delegates elected by 110,000 New York workers at the March 6 demonstration, spoke.

"The bosses, by attempting to stir up race hatred," said Foster, are attempting to disunite the workers. We must smash this attempt to break the solidarity of both black and white workers—a policy that is backed by the A. F. of L. with its Jim Crow unions."

Inter-Racial Dance in Washington.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Mar. 24.—More than a thousand Negro and white workers attended the inter-racial dance here.

Unemployed Leaders in New Bedford Given Jail Terms and Fines

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Mar. 24.—Jail sentences and fines were meted out to the leaders of the unemployed demonstrations on March 6 here at the trial which just concluded.

Eulalie Mendes and Peter Hagellas were fined $5 and $10; Martin Russek was sentenced to 30 days in jail plus a $5 fine. An unemployed worker was given 30 days in jail, and a Young Pioneer was placed on two months' probation. All the cases have been appealed.

Young Pioneers of Trenton, N. J., Resist Attacks of Bosses

TRENTON, N. J., March 21.—After repeated distribution of bulletins in Trenton School Junior No. 4, several Young Pioneers are being persecuted by the capitalist school authorities.

When a Pioneer leader was distributing leaflets outside that school calling the children and their parents to a protest meeting against this attack on the Pioneers, he was attacked by a few patrol boys and boy scouts who were incited by the teachers against the Young Pioneers. He was arrested and sentenced to ten days.

rapidly worse. In spite of the campaign of artificial optimism being conducted by President Hoover and all of his aids, as well as by big business heads themselves. The bread lines in New York grow longer day by day; retail trade is collapsing, showing that the jobless can not buy necessities of life any more; such incidents as that of 2,000 jobless men and women applying for 280 available jobs as census enumerators in Luzerne County, Pa., abound. In Rochester, N. Y., married printing trades workers went on the four day week, and single compositors take a three day week, to divide the work. And printing, which takes advantage of the large amount of bankruptcy notices, sales leaflets, etc. during hard times, is one of the least affected of industries.

"Not Work Enough."

After the orgy of head-cracking with which the capitalist police met the demands of the starving workers on March 6, Gov. Young of California (where some of the most brutal attacks took place) came out with a statement:

"Unemployment? I think it's exaggerated. Anyway, we'll always have it. The solution? Well, perhaps there isn't any. California has not enough work to go around for all the people who come here."

The unemployed themselves and the militant workers feel that mass pressure for work or wages will, however, force the fat parasites who run the country to loosen up with a little of their profits, and feel, too, that the workers are beginning to realize that a social system which produces such misery will have to go.

release of the elected committee of the March 6 Unemployment demonstration in New York, and pledged to continue the struggle for the organization of jobless and employed workers, to win work or wages, the seven hour day and five day week, etc.

Speakers were Bill Dunne, editor of Labor Unity; Andrew Overgaard, secretary of the Metal Workers' Industrial League; the Trade Union Unity League; Charles Guyon, secretary treasurer of the National Miners' Union, and Pat Devine, district organizer of the Communist Party.

Shoe Shop Meeting.

A shop meeting of the workers at the Floral Shoe Co., Brooklyn, Thursday, passed a resolution denouncing the arrest and attempted railroad to prison of Foster, Amter, Minor, Raymond and Leston.

"These representatives of the unemployed championed the fight of the employed and unemployed workers against their oppressors," says the resolution. "The police, under their chief, Commissioner Whalen, brutally attacked the workers, including women and children, and denied the rights of the workers to the streets, and placed the committee of the unemployed under heavy bail to railroad them to the penitentiary. We pledge our fullest solidarity with the arrested delegation, which we consider our delegation, and are ready to continue the fight against boss oppression until the fascist rule of the bosses shall be overthrown."

Demonstration Today.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., March 24. A protest demonstration, called by the Communist Party here, will take place tomorrow at 1208 Tasker Street to denounce the police brutality against the March 6 demonstrators against unemployment, and the arrests that took place at that time. The assembled workers will demand in no uncertain terms the release of Foster, Minor, Amter, Raymond and Leston, the representatives of the New York March 6 demonstrators. E. Gardos, district organizer of the C. P., will be the main speaker.

REVOLUTIONARY TRADE UNIONS WIN IN WORKER COUNCILS IN GERMANY

Get Six Members to Two of Social-Democrats in Chemical Factory

Make Big Advances in Other Industries in Heilbronn and Pirna

(Impeccable Press Service)
BERLIN.—The workers council election at the important chemical factory Schering and Kahlbaum, resulted in a fine victory for the list of the revolutionary trade union opposition which was put forward for the first time. The revolutionary list received 549 votes, whilst the social democrats received only 181 votes. In the previous workers council the social democrats had an undisputed majority, this time, however, the council will consist of six members of the revolutionary trade union opposition and two social democrats.

In a leather factory in Heilbronn the revolutionary list received 110 votes and the reformists 38 votes, so that the new council will be composed of five revolutionaries and one reformist.

The total result of the workers council election in the Hoechst celluloid factory in Pirna has just been announced. The revolutionary list received a total of 466 votes, the reformists 306 votes and, the fascist list 167 votes. The revolutionaries will now have six seats, the reformists three seats and the fascists two seats.

"Work or Bread, or Jobless Will Seize Food"

Mexico City papers, including the "Universal Grafico" gives account of a demand made on March 6 by the National Unemployed Confederation, for relief from hunger—"work or bread," voiced through a large delegation that visited the newspaper demanding that it give publicity to their demand.

Further, the delegation gave the following warning, taken from the "Universal Grafico" in its quotation of what the delegation had said:

"There are many of the Confederation, who, facing the horrible situation of starvation, are disposed to extreme measures, such as violence. There are groups which are ready to break into stores and warehouses of food, driven by hunger. And if yet they have not done so, it is because we have, with great difficulty, dissuaded them from such action. But we fear that things are going beyond the limit and any day they may go in considerable masses to take the food that they see in the commercial establishments.

The "Universal Grafico" states that the delegation declared that three of its members had actually died of starvation, falling dead in the streets of Tacuba, near Mexico City, for lack of nutrition after days and days of hunting work fruitlessly.

The delegation rejected the proposal previously made by the chief of the Traffic Department of the city, that the unemployed serve as voluntary watchers of automobiles which are parked on the streets and live from tips that might be given by the owners. By such a "service" that is no better than plain begging, they state, none could make more than some 20 centavos a day, and this is not enough for one person, let alone a family.

They demanded that the authorities take action.

Saxon Government Falls By C. P. Attack

BERLIN (By Impeccable Press Service).—Despite the maneuvers of the national fascists who pretended to oppose the reactionary Bueger government in Saxony, but who in reality would gladly have kept it in power, a lack of confidence vote was adopted in the Saxon Diet with 63 against 24 votes and 9 abstentions. The government was overthrown at the initiative of the Communists.

The present government will carry on formally until the constitution of a new government. In order to prevent the formation of a government of the Great Coalition the Communist fraction has filed a motion for the dissolution of the Diet. The "Rote Fahne" declares that the voting on this motion will show how far the national fascists and social democrats are serious in their opposition to the Bueger cabinet.

Postal Workers Need Unity League

against raising wages are used the facts that the postal administration is bearing a deficit and that if wages be raised it will be detrimental to the government.

The Trade Union Bureaucrats.—The postal workers are rather well organized, but the union bureaucracy is betraying them by collaborating with the employers in the different organizations for "improving the lives of the workers," and others. In 1926 the employers organized a "Council for Improving the Lives of Postal Workers." The secretary of the national organization in his report of 1927, praised and supported this council which has governmental officials on it.

The Negro Postal Workers.—There are 25,396 Negro workers employed in the postal department. The majority of them are employed as letter-carriers in the South. White workers do not take this work, and for this reason this field of work is left entirely to the Negroes. The Negroes practically do not do any inside office work; however, since the war, particularly in the northern cities, the number of Negro office workers and letter-carriers is growing. There are also many Negro workers in the South among the railway postal employees, and besides some of them hold the jobs of the chief office employees.

The Negroes comprise the biggest percentage among the unskilled workers. The number of white workers in this branch is rather small. Although the trade unions officially do not refuse to accept colored workers (with the exception of the railway postal workers' organization), yet, in the South, we do not meet Negroes to any large extent among the memberships of the trade unions. They often pay dues to the sick benefit funds and other mutual aid organizations, but at the same time take no part whatever in trade union life. The majority of the Negro workers in the South belongs to the Postal Alliance, which is of a trade union and in part also of a political character, composed wholly of Negroes.

Only in the North do Negro workers actively participate in the work of the trade unions, particularly in Chicago and New York. Out of 2000 Negro postal workers in Chicago, more than one-half are organized in the trade unions, however, they are very little interested in the trade union movement. Some of them do take active part in the life of the trade unions, but the white trade union bureaucrats do their utmost not to permit them to occupy any responsible positions.

The Postal Workers of America must wage a active struggle not only against the postal employers, but also against the trade union bureaucrats who are collaborating with them. It is essential to organize Red Oppositions for a decisive struggle against capitalist rationalization, against the worsening and for the improvement of labor and living conditions, for wage increases, against race antagonisms, which are being kindled by the bourgeoisie and its lackeys. The slogan of the American postal, telegraph and telephone workers should be: the organization of Red Opposition on the basis of the militant class struggle.

Fighting Farm Toilers' League Active in Cal.

BRAWLEY, Imperial Valley, Cal. (By Mail).—The Agricultural Workers Industrial League has opened headquarters at 904 J Street, in Brawley, Cal., the largest shipping point in the Imperial Valley. The League is out in the open with its militant program of organization, despite the police terror which has reigned here since the first of the year when the masses of unorganized workers revolted.

The thousands of field workers, who are forced to toil long hours under conditions far worse than slavery, are organizing under the leadership of the Trade Union Unity League and the Agricultural Workers Industrial League with the definite purpose of striking for better conditions in the spring months. Extensive plans are being made for a broad organizational campaign throughout the entire Valley. Schedules of weekly mass meetings in the streets of every town in the Valley are being drawn up. Meetings are being held daily with the workers on the fields. Field committees are being set up in every district, and numbers of active delegates are being sent into the fields for organizational work.

Buy Communist Paper.

"Vida Obrera," the official organ of the Communist Party in the Spanish language, is being sold in the streets at the rate of fifty copies daily. The Mexican workers, who are in the majority in the Valley, numbering approximately 6,000, show by their enthusiastic response that they are ready to fight against the intolerable working conditions.

Wages for field labor run from 30 to 45 cents per hour for exhausting physical labor in heat that reaches 120 degrees. The working day often reaches 16 hours in the height of the season, never less than 12. Contract work is prevalent. The only shelter provided for the workers in most cases is a roof of leaves and grass on four poles; no walls. The workers must furnish their own coats and blankets or sleep on the ground. No lights, no running water. The workers are forced to drink the water from the irrigation ditches. No sanitary nor bathing facilities whatever are provided. The workers themselves must do their own cooking over an open fire, no stoves being provided.

Stimulate Race Issue.

The employers constantly strive to keep the workers of the Valley divided on racial issues and attempt to pit the Mexican workers against the Filipinos, etc. In this they are failing; the workers are organizing on a class basis in the Agricultural Workers Industrial League. Mexican, Filipino, Negro and American workers attend the meetings together and declare their adherence to the fundamental working class principle of solidarity.

The date for an Imperial Valley conference of all agricultural workers has been set for April 20 at El Centro, to be preceded by a mass meeting Saturday night, April 19. Ten thousand conference calls will be distributed throughout the Valley. The conference will not only work out detailed plans for immediate action, but will lay the basis for an industrial union of agricultural workers to be organized on a national scale.

"HOPEFUL HOOVER AND THE HOLY WAR"

Note: In the first part of this article, Bill Dunne quoted government facts which completely smash the lies of Hoover and his imperialist cohorts on the extent of the present crisis. The following is the concluding section of this article:

By BILL DUNNE.

THE world crisis of capitalism is due to a large degree to the fact that one-sixth of the earth's surface and 150,000,000 of its population has been withdrawn by the strong arm of the Russian masses from the framework of capitalism. The irresistible march of socialist construction in industry and in agriculture leaves the imperialists astounded, frightened and furious.

Socialist industry and agriculture is upsetting capitalist economy. Especially is socialized agriculture making its force felt in the world markets and creating problems for imperialist nations like America, which still find it necessary to sell wheat and other foodstuffs in the world markets in great quantities, problems for which imperialism has no other solution but intensified attacks on the working class at home—and war.

The Agricultural Crisis.

The Hoover interview has this to say about the crisis in agriculture—a subject on which successful lying is now impossible even by such artists as those in and at the disposal of the White House:

"The expected stimulus from the activities of the Farm Board has hardly come since the middle of January when the wheat price has been described as panicky, and is an aftermath of what took place in stocks in October and November. It was aggravated in the last month by the fight between English wheat buyers and the Canadian wheat pool."

Hoover believes that the "farm relief" machinery now set up will be able to placate the farmers, so he speaks more frankly than about industrial conditions. It is a damning confession.

Fact and Fiction.

Add to this picture of crisis in agriculture the situation in industry to be visualized from the recent figures on unemployment which the Department of Labor has released under pressure:

According to their own figures, the Department of Labor, run by James J. Davis, the open enemy of the low-paid, unorganized workers in basic industry, Negro and white, foreign-born and native alike, admits that one in every ten workers employed in February a year ago are jobless now.

The department bases its survey on 12,500 plants employing 3,000,000 workers and concludes that employment increased in February over January exactly one-tenth of one per cent! It is upon this microscopic and purely fictional increase that the capitalist press pictures Hoover as believing that "the dawn of prosperity is breaking."

One-tenth of one per cent increase in employment is made the occasion for a tidal wave of optimism and typographical paeans of joy! To what sad straits has come the once proud land of prosperity!

It seems that the one-tenth of one per cent increase in employed workers is obtained statistically by adding in the small army of additional clerks hired to collect figures for the Hoover optimism offensive.

Notes of Skepticism.

It could have been obtained no other way and it is not surprising that here and there a note of skepticism creeps into the editorial comment of such journals as the Pittsburgh Press, a Scripps-Howard paper catering mostly to the middle class and trying to build mass circulation among a working class population where unemployment runs as high as 40 per cent. The press comments on March 18:

"The department reports that there was the slightest possible improvement in February over January, the figures being 90.3 as against 90.2. In giving these percentages, employment for 1926, an average year, is taken as 100 per cent. Even in 'normal years' we are supposed to have from 1,000,000 to 2,000,000 persons on the average out of work, so that this 100 per cent should be taken with some caution. . . . Combined figures for these manufacturing industries and seven other major industries show indeed that there was a slight decrease in February as against January." (Emphasis mine.)

After congratulating the country in general that the "Communist demonstrations on March 6 were so futile," the press editorial concludes: "The major question remains: What are we to do about it, for next year and the next?"

The Answer of the Clergy.

Only the Communist Party of the United States has given the correct answer of the working class to this question.

The prelates and preachers who purvey "the opium of the people" in churches and schools of all creeds have answered that a holy war against the Soviet Union is the correct reply. The sleek bishops and cardinals, the Mannings and the Hayeses, have nothing to say about the millions of jobless workers except that they should muster at the communion rail, satisfy their hunger with the wisp of wafer whom the holy shamans have turned into the body and blood of a dead god and then, having whetted their appetites on this cannibalistic hors d'oeuvre, sally forth to battle for Wall Street, popes, prelates and preachers, to put down with blood and fire the proletarian government of the Soviet Union which alone holds and defends the torch of freedom for worker and peasant, black, white and yellow, in all lands.

This is the answer of the black-robed brethren of the cross to the jobless and starving millions of working class men, women and children in the United States—an answer carrying the imprimatur of his holiness, the pope, side by side with the great seal of the American republic, placed there by Herbert Hoover, the lying prophet of capitalist prosperity.

The Answer of Wall Street and the Social-Fascists.

The answer of the government proper, aided and abetted by the clergy as at all times since government and religion arose, is clubs, tear gas, machine-guns, policemen, jails and prison sentences for the workers and the leaders of workers who protest.

The answer of the social-fascists of the American Federation of Labor and of the socialist party is to entwine themselves still more closely into the suppressive fabric of Wall Street government, to take part actively in suppression of the masses or to distract the attention of workers with hypocritical phrases while a cop nails them with a club from behind.

The Communist Answer.

The answer of our Party is organization and struggle. Work or wages! The fight for the organization of the millions of low paid and jobless workers into unions of the class struggle! Our Party fights and will continue to fight for every single inch of advantage our class has won in years of struggle. "Communists disdain to conceal their aims" and we organize and fight openly, under the standard of the World Party of Lenin, the Communist International, for power for our class, for the dictatorship of the working class against the dictatorship of the capitalist class.

"Out of Their Own Mouths."

No figures have been used here that are not furnished by Hoover's own government departments. No statements have been ascribed to him that are not from the lips of Hoover himself, or what he wished published, or from the article by his fellow-disciple in the Wall Street faith, Julius H. Barnes.

On the basis of the evidence we must conclude that these two spokesmen of American imperialism are trying, by specious and lying statements, to cause further misery for millions of our class by leading them to believe that relief for their poverty and hunger is in sight when no relief on the basis of their program is possible.

The Hoover program is a program for capitalist rulers—for the class for whom $150,000,000 in taxes were remitted while black pauperism invaded the dwellings of thousands of workers.

An Imperialist War Program.

The Hoover program is a war program—war on the working class, war on the Soviet Union, war on imperialist rivals.

Taken in connection with the rabid denunciation of the workers and peasants government of the Soviet Union by the clergy and their dupes and the mobilization of their followers which, like the attacks on the unemployed and their Communist leaders, is rapidly taking on a fascist character, taken in connection with the sharpening imperialist antagonisms marked by the collapse of the London Naval Conference, the Hoover program as outlined in his recent interview, is a war program.

The Working Class War Program.

War against imperialist war is the program of the Communist Party and in every action ranging from the organization of the smallest shop committee to mass strikes and demonstrations, the struggle against imperialist war, and for the defense of the Soviet Union comes to the forefront showing with crystal clarity the exact process by which in this "period of wars and revolutions," in the strongest imperialist nation, the daily struggle for the smallest demands of our class become political struggles.

The period of "permanent prosperity," thru the intensification of the contradictions of capitalism, has become in the United States a period when the political strike is on the order of business of the working class.

The Municipal Election in St. Paul

THE result of the Communist campaign in the municipal primary elections just held in St. Paul, are a proof of the rapid growth of the influence of the Communist Party. This was the first time the Communist Party has run Communist candidates on a Communist Party platform in the St. Paul municipal elections. In previous municipal elections the Communist candidates ran on the Farmer Labor party ticket. In the 1928 election campaign for Congress the Communist Party polled 692 votes for its candidate for Congress.

In the present election campaign the vote for councilman was 1324 for Bartlett, 1780 for Rebecca Grecht, and 4,467 for Anderson. In the vote for mayor the Communist Party polled 813 votes for Karl Reeve, the Communist candidate. All of these candidates were known as Communists. In their statements published in the St. Paul press, all of them stated, "I stand on the complete program of the Communist Party and the Communist International." The Communist program, in sharp and clear terms, was given by all candidates.

The small vote for mayor was due primarily for the reason that more votes were stolen from the Communist candidates for mayor and that some workers have not yet rid themselves of their Farmer Labor illusions to the extent that they would vote for the Communist candidate for mayor, as against the social fascist, Farmer Laborite Clancy. On the other hand the fact that 1300 workers voted for all of the Communist candidates for councilmen, shows that the workers are fast losing their illusions, and that they have come closer and closer to the leadership of the Communist Party.

The extent of the votes stolen from the Communist candidate for mayor may be judged by the fact that in one small precinct, precinct four, ward nine, two votes were counted for the Communist candidate and already six workers have informed the district office of the

Against the Religious Anti-Soviet Agitation

The following is the report of an interview which Comrade Rykov granted to the representative of the "United Press."

YOU come to me with a request which I am sorry I am unable to fulfill. You ask me to give you information regarding the number of and the reasons for acts of repression against priests and clergy of various religious denominations. I cannot comply with your wish, for I am not aware of any cases of such acts of repression.

Inasmuch as such repressive measures, or as you express it, brutalities were not applied against priests and clergy of religious denominations, your other request, that these repressive measures be mitigated, has no point. Does this declaration of mine mean, perchance, that no priest or minister of a religious denomination has even been arrested, handed over to the court, or sentenced? There have been and there are cases where priests and ministers of religious communities have been arrested and sentenced, but these arrests and sentences were not in any way connected with the religious convictions of the condemned and with their cult. In these cases the priests and clergymen of religious denominations were accused of having committed crimes which violate our criminal code. The priests and clergy must be held responsible for such crimes just as all other citizens of the Soviet Union.

In this connection one cannot refer back to the whole period since the October Revolution and pick out every case where this or that clergyman has been brought before the party that they voted for the Communist candidate in this precinct.

The elections in St. Paul are "non-partisan." This method serves to disfranchise the workers' Party, the Communist Party, from the final elections, to hide the fact that the candidates of the Republican, Democratic and F.L. parties are running on a capitalist program, to blur the class issues. However, in this primary campaign, the issues were brought out. The candidate receiving the most votes, Bundie, who received 27,000 votes, ran on a fascist, war platform. He appeared as the representative of the American Legion, and advocated the big new airport program for St. Paul.

Clancy, who received fifteen thousand votes, was the candidate of the A.F.L.-Farmer Labor "progressives." His program was the typical social fascist program. He tried to please everybody, employers and workers alike, and boasted of the confidence "industrial leaders" place in him. On unemployment, he advocated nothing but registration of the unemployed. He is the present commissioner of public safety. The third candidate, Hodgson, the present mayor, who received fourteen thousand votes, immediately after the election made a statement that he will support Clancy in the final election. He said, "I cannot go back on my old friend, Jim Clancy, with whom I have served so many years in the administration of city affairs."

In spite of the shortcomings of the Communist Party campaign, due to lack of finance, weaknesses in Party forces, etc., in spite of the "non-partisan" character of the elections, which confused some workers as to who were the Communist candidates, the vote for the Communist candidate, which, in the vote for Councilmen ran from 1200 to 4500, proves the great gains made by the Party during the course of the campaign against unemployment, for defense of the Soviet Union, for the organization of the unorganized, against the war danger, etc., as the leader of the workers in St. Paul.

court for defending some religious thesis or other, as for example, proponents of such doctrines as the Immaculate Conception, the creation of Eve out of Adam's rib, Dead Sunday (All Souls Day), Transubstantiation, etc. We have removed the religious factors from the whole educational activity and from the system of enlightenment in our country, and we secure and promote with all the means at our disposal the development of science and spread it among the broadest masses. And with us such a trial as the "Monkey Trial" in the U. S. A. would of course be impossible, as we promote in every way the spread of scientific knowledge. The spread of scientific knowledge and the overcoming of every kind of prejudice naturally and of necessity leads to a decline of the influence of religion and a falling off in the number of those holding religious beliefs.

This decline of the influence of religion and the number of its adherents is also a result of the fact that a number of religious organizations have compromised themselves by their open support of counter-revolution (the Jesus regiment in the army of Admiral Koltchak, the recent declaration of the Extraordinary Church Conference of the Ukrainian Autocephalic Church, that under the flag of this organization White Guards clothed as priests prepared an armed revolt against the Soviet Power, and a number of similar facts).

I am asked another question in regard to the closing of churches. Without doubt a number of churches are being closed. But this is taking place as a result of the decisions of meetings of the people, in cases where the population itself regards the existence of the church as superfluous and prefers to employ the church buildings and premises for cultural purposes, schools, clubs, etc. If I am not mistaken also abroad churches are subleased, closed and used for this or that institution of a secular character.

With us the closing of churches takes place with sufficient guarantees which are contained in the decision of the Central Executive Committee on religious communities. I mention for example paragraphs 36 and 37 of this decision, which was adopted in April, 1929, and also the fact that a considerable portion of the applications of the local authorities for the closing of churches were not granted by the higher organs.

The last question is what are the causes of the agitation in other countries for the purpose of raising the question of religion in the Soviet Union? I believe that these causes are not of a religious, but solely of a political nature. Those groupings which have launched this campaign and are conducting it in a considerable number of foreign press organs, are endeavoring to use the question of religion as a weapon for political purposes. Here we have without doubt to do with circles which proceed from the standpoint that in political warfare all means are permissible. This alone would explain firstly, the appearance of absolutely wild inventions in the bourgeois newspapers, and secondly, the circumstance that groups and persons have come forward in defense of religion, who for the most part themselves hold religion to be more prejudice and ignorance, and who with their political activity could never guarantee those forms of religious liberty which exist on the territory of the Soviet Union.

INTENSIFY THE DRIVE FOR SOUTHERN COMMUNIST WEEKLY

THE following chart contains the results of our drive to establish a Communist weekly newspaper in the South, up to March 21. The "Punkki" still holds the championship and the champion is an exceptional honorable one because this paper did not only reach its quota so soon, but has even surpassed its quota by 44 per cent.

In spite of this most satisfactory record made by the Punkki, the drive as a whole is going too slow. The total percentage reached is not even 10 per cent! The Language Department therefore again calls upon the different papers and language fraction bureaus to intensify the drive, so that we can reach, or even surpass, the quota of $5,790 without dragging the drive too long.

It is necessary to point out here that the drive is not merely important in regard to the raising of the necessary funds, but it should also be utilized to stimulate the interest of the masses connected with the language papers taking part in this drive, in the struggle of the southern workers, and further strengthen the feeling of solidarity between the southern workers and the foreign language working masses. The different papers should conduct this drive as a mass campaign and appeal to the widest masses for contributions. Mobilize all of your forces and the masses in the fraternal organizations with which your paper has connection for this drive! Try to send in your full quota next week before Friday, 3 p. m., to the Language Department, Central Committee, Communist Party of U. S. A., Rownost Ludu.

Some Lessons in Strategy

By PHIL BART.

FOR the first time in the history of our Party we have succeeded in rallying over a million workers to demonstrate on International Unemployment Day. This number can very well compare with those in the larger parties in Europe. This demonstration therefore opens new problems for us. We have already had demonstrations, such as Sacco-Vanzetti, which were partially legal, and we were permitted the use of the squares in the various cities. In this demonstration, however, we found that with very few exceptions, struggles took place between the police and the workers for the right of the streets.

In analyzing the experiences we must point out in the beginning that in each city we are faced with somewhat different problems. Firstly, the question of certain squares, where the workers have established a tradition of meeting, such as the Cleveland Public Square, New York Union Square, etc. In Detroit, however, no such central place is in existence. Secondly, the question of reaching these squares, which are different in various cities. The writer, however, having mostly experience with Detroit will therefore confine himself to that city primarily. However, some basic principles are applicable all over.

Especially at this time it is important to take this question up seriously and with all earnestness, because in a short time we will be called upon to prepare for an even greater demonstration on May First. It is therefore necessary for us in the shortest possible time to estimate our experiences, look over our shortcomings, and to correct our mistakes.

Some Criticisms of Detroit.

The resolution of the District Committee correctly states that, "though orientating on a large outpouring of the masses and applying correctly the line of the Central Committee, we underestimated the tremendous response of the masses to the call of the Party." While everyone expected a large outpouring of masses, no one estimated the possibility of 100,000 workers responding. That this figure is not exaggerated is observed by all capitalist papers. The Detroit Times admits that there was a larger turnout than on Armistice Day.

Our strategy was not entirely suited to the large number of workers. It was necessary for us to change our strategy with the new situation. Here again the resolution points out that, "... the steering committee at the demonstration suffered from too much formalism and lack of initiative." It was the duty of that committee to adapt itself to the new problems. This it did not do. While Communists are expected to carry out instructions, this must not be done mechanically. Communists must be flexible and adapt themselves to new situations as they arise, in order correctly to give leadership.

Gathering Before Demonstration.

In the past we used to gather our forces in various halls and send the comrades to their designated places. This plan does no longer work today. We have seen for example in Chicago and Detroit where meetings were raided prior to the demonstration and wholesale arrests took place. Therefore the congregating of large numbers of workers in our halls would only give our enemies a chance to cut off the leadership from the demonstration by arresting many of the leading comrades.

This does not preclude that we are to give up the idea of marching to the demonstration. This can be done by holding meetings at factory gates and getting the workers in large numbers to go to the demonstration in an organized way. Similarly the calling of strikes and having these workers march from their place of work to the demonstration. It can also be arranged for small groups of workers to meet in different homes in a certain vicinity (if possible near the place of the demonstration), and each group as it walks along will meet with the next group until all of them have been gathered together. Then organized in a large body they march to a designated place. Similar groups can be organized in different parts of the city, each to march from a different direction. But as much as possible this should be timed so that each section reaches its assigned place at about the same time.

The Leadership of the Demonstration.

To have a successful demonstration it is necessary to throw in the whole Party force. The Third Congress of the Comintern points out on this question, "The backbone of the demonstration must be formed by a well instructed and experienced group of diligent officials, mingling among the masses..." With an organized and diligent group of comrades we can successfully carry through our tasks. This has been demonstrated in Campus Martius. While the workers responded militantly to the attacks of the police, there was noticed a lack of leadership in fighting in an organized manner.

ner. Sporadic fights would take place, where groups would resist the attacks of the police on some worker. If we had had groups of "experienced and diligent" comrades, they would have succeeded in a larger extent to bring out the militancy of the masses and resist the police attacks more effectively.

Workers Defense Corps.

We have spoken considerably, and written even more, on the question of Workers Defense Corps. Yet, we must record that insufficient work has been done in this field. This demonstration has shown a lack of resistance to the police attacks. Wherever workers did fight, it was done in an unorganized manner.

Of course, we must take many factors into consideration. Firstly, this was the first time that we participated in such a large demonstration, and secondly, the inexperience of the masses in resisting police brutality. Yet the newspapers here admit that the police were unable to cope with the situation. The Detroit News of March 6 gives the strategy of the police. It writes: "The big cars and buses scattered the crowds as no number of police could have. Almost at once the mass was split in train and the danger was over." In other words, it was the running of street-cars through the crowds of workers that did the trick.

We must therefore be prepared in such contingency. An organized workers defense corps in this case would have given leadership to the masses and stopped the cars which would have tied up traffic and would have made it even more difficult for the police to handle the situation. As it was, the police succeeded in carrying through their plan.

The organization of Workers' Self-Defense Corps must be done with the initiative of the Party and League. In every sympathetic organization we must get groups of workers that are suitable for this purpose and train them for effective work. They must be prepared to act during demonstrations for defense of shop-meetings, and in all other cases. We have seen, for instance, in Hamtramck where an organized group of workers was able to promptly and effectively to stop hoodlums from breaking up our hall there. These groups must receive regular training of work for demonstrations, and how to defend our speakers and placards during the demonstrations.

With the crisis developing rapidly, bringing an increased radicalization of the masses, we will have more and more demonstrations. May First as has already been pointed out, is a very short time away. These demonstrations will move and more take on a political character, and the workers will rally not only on the immediate demands, but on the slogans of the Party for struggle against imperialist war preparations, defense of the Soviet Union, against the whole capitalist system, and for the revolutionary workers' government.

Great tasks are therefore placed upon us. We must quickly learn to respond to new situations as they arise. Underestimating the tempo of radicalization of the masses can no longer be tolerated, as it can become a serious error in this period for which the Party will have to pay a big price. We must proceed with preparations at a more rapid tempo for May First, and carry through the following immediate tasks:

1. Ideological preparation of the Party and the masses for May First.

2. Organize groups of comrades that have the qualities and initiative to lead the demonstration.

3. Organize workers' self-defense corps in all workers organizations, and on the basis of the experiences already gained, prepare to resist the attacks of the police, organized fascist gangs and thugs.

From the attacks against our Party following the March 6 Demonstrations, we can already foretell the actions of the enemy for May First. In New York, where the workers for many years have gathered on Union Square, we find Whalen organizing the fascist American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars to organize a bloody attack against the workers on May First. In other cities, similar problems arise. This means effective organization of the Party to lead the tens of thousands of workers that will respond to our call against these attacks, which will train us to lead the workers in the final struggle against capitalism.

This article dealing with some of the experiences of the Detroit demonstration points out the necessity of a thorough discussion on this question. We expect in the near future to deal with many other problems such as the calling of strikes, organization in the factories, the work of the nuclei, etc. This article is written with the hope of stimulating more discussion by the Party members, especially those that were active in preparation for the March 6 Demonstrations.
